NEW LIGHT ON MONTGOMERY WARD CASE

Strong new light is thrown on the confusing events in the Montgomery Ward case by the national labor relations board's decision to conduct a collective bargaining election of the company's employees within a week and the union's declaration that if an election is held within that time it will be under protest. The union says it would like 21 days to get ready for a showdown.

Last December, when the union's contract expired and the company claimed it no longer had a majority, NLRB ordered a continuance of the contract and also an election. The company thereupon declined to continue the contract, and out of the ensuing complications came the seizure order—but no election.

The national labor relations act is vague on the holding of elections; the way the law is written its authority to order an election is permissive, not mandatory. Neither employees nor employers can force an election to be ordered. This has been one of the passages of the labor relations act most frequently singled out as an open invitation to abuse.

In other words, there is nothing in the law to prevent a union from continuing to act as a representative in collective bargaining indefinitely, without a majority. This, apparently, is the situation among Montgomery Ward employees, as sized up by the company. That impression is deepened by the union's spokesman when he says, referring to the order for an election within a week, "It's obviously a trick. The board is hostile to the union because it is standing on its law-given rights."

It has been evident for some time that when the mystery of the collective bargaining election was cleared up, the mystery of the Montgomery Ward case in general would begin to clear up simultaneously. It is now beginning to be apparent that the union concerned in the fracas isn't jumping at the chance to prove that it has the right to the contract continuance which the labor board ordered until the pressure of circumstances finally forced it to get down to business on that long-deferred election.

PEPPER AND HILL SURVIVE

If Senators Pepper and Hill had lost their respective primaries in Florida and Alabama, the upset would have been sensational. Both are well qualified. Both have been prominent in the Democratic party. Neither was challenged by an outstanding personality.

The issue, as it lay in their races, was between Democratic incumbents identified with the policies of the Roosevelt administration and challengers leaning heavily for support on traditional southern prejudices. It was a contest between "progressives" and "reactionaries," as the terms are used to denote intra-party differences of Democratic opinion in southern states.

If Senators Pepper and Hill had lost, in other words, the triumph would have been scored at the expense of a political school in the south whose members are not wholly bound by the ancient talking points of southern Democracy. There has been no serious question so far of President Roosevelt's ability to carry Florida and Alabama if he is renominated—and whether he runs or not, the senate will have more need of Senators Pepper and Hill in the next six years than it has of replacements seeking office on platforms of narrow prejudice.

SYNTHETIC QUININE

Even though "it is by no means certain that the synthetic drug can be manufactured on a large scale for use during the war," the discovery of a chemical method of duplicating quinine promises to prove one of the major scientific by products of the Second World War.

Because malaria claims more lives each year than any other disease and because quinine is obtained from the far-away cinchona tree plantations of the Netherlands East Indies, now in Japanese hands, the search for a substitute began almost a century ago. In his effort to synthesize quinine, Sir William Perkin, a British scientist, produced a mauve dye instead, which founded the organic chemical industry. But the search for synthetic quinine has continued down through the years.

New that it has been found by arranging carbon, hydrogen, nitrogen and oxygen atoms in the same relationship that exists in the molecular structure of natural quinine, though the medical tests are still to come, the laboratory may eventually produce enough quinine to overcome the shortage which has existed ever since the remedy for malaria was discovered. If that should come to pass, more lives may be saved in time to come than have been and will be lost in the battles for the cinchona tree plantations of the Netherlands East Indies.

Incidentally, synthetic quinine was discovered by two young chemists, one just turned 27 and one still 26. It is just as well that in all the draft confusion no local board acting under conflicting orders decided to put them in uniform where their services to their country, and to its soldiers, couldn't possibly compare with what they have achieved by plugging away at a scientific problem in their laboratory.—Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, May 6

THIS DAY MAY be notable for the breaking away of long thwarting or static situations, impeding all hope of progress or any sort of worthwhile accumulation of property, funds or other sound investments of time, effort and ability. It is likely there may be vicious antagonism, quarrels or tempestuous moves to menace this definite progress, but with poise, patience and well executed plans it is certain there will be real attainment, with financial increase and stability, with several personal rewards for work well and intelligently done. Keep emotions and funds under firm control.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year in which very definite and concrete progress may be made in breaking up old obstacles, congestions, antagonisms and other impediments, to make way for a stabilizing of the finances, credit, real possessions and other worthwhile accumulations. This may be against malicious and organized opposition, with enmity, strife and rash or impulsive attack. By control, patience and sound tactics there may be such rewards as attention from influential sources, generously ready to lend full support to diligence, perseverance, patience and practical skills. But keep emotions and resentments under control and do not squander funds, either on personal or business speculations or chances.

A child born on this day may have many sound and worthy ambitions, and skills, winning support from those in high places again malicious opposition.

President On the Spot

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The death of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox and the necessity of appointing his successor at this time has President Roosevelt on the spot.

Unless he can find a man who combines the two ideals of being perfect politically and at least the equal of the late secretary in administrative ability, any appointment he makes is going to receive criticism.

Strong groups within the administration and on Capitol Hill have formed favoring presidential action along four lines.

They represent almost the only four choices that the President has, namely: (1) to elevate Undersecretary James V. Forrestal to the secretaryship.

Observers are almost unanimous in praise of Forrestal's abilities. The 52-year-old present acting-secretary has been on the job four years. He's tough-minded and stiff-necked in getting the Navy everything it needs in the way of ships and trained men. He has gotten much credit for what many term "a magnificent job" in making our Navy the world's greatest seapower, even after the tragedy of Pearl Harbor.

He's a Democrat, but there's no political taint about him. He has never run for office nor even been a working politician. He was a naval flyer in World War I and has been an observer under fire with the Navy in this war.

(2) The President can continue his coalition cabinet idea and appoint a Republican to the post—a Willkie, a Stassen, or a Rep. James W. Wadsworth.

Sec. Knox was spearhead of the coalition cabinet idea. A former Republican vice presidential nominee in 1936, he had criticized Roosevelt policies unmercifully, but he accepted the appointment of secretary in 1940 (after some months of debating with himself and close friends) and none ever questioned his loyalty or patriotism. If Roosevelt could duplicate that appointment, he could go far in keeping the war effort a bipartisan unification.

(3) The President could appoint a Democrat with strong political influence, a man from the south, the middle west or far west. In Democratic political circles, there has been much criticism that the President has allowed the Republicans to carry the ball too often in recent years, sometimes to his own detriment. There are many who feel that now is the time to wipe out that complaint.

(4) He can duck the political issues altogether, let Forrestal continue as acting secretary and make no new appointment until after the November elections.

While many agree that it isn't like the President to play a waiting game, others feel that this would be the wisest move of all.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Importance of Dessert

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
BRILLAT-SAVARIN, the author of "The Physiology of Taste" which had no predecessor and has no successor, and remains the sole authority in that field of dietetics which devotes itself to the aesthetics

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

tics of the subject, which, in short, points out that the taste buds on the tongue are just as important to healthy nutrition as the peristaltic movements of the large bowel — Brillat-Savarin devotes very properly a good deal of space to the importance of dessert in a meal.

He had met, he said, only one man of any eminence who did not expand over the dessert and that was Corvisart, the physician of Napoleon. He ascribed this tactfulness to sleepiness due to Corvisart's habit of drinking iced champagne during the body of the meal: If he had drunk his champagne warm, as Christians should, according to M. Brillat-Savarin, Corvisart would have enjoyed the common habit of mankind to expand while enjoying his dessert.

Social Function
The author also averred that dessert has a social function — it holds society together. It promotes the happiness and continuance of marriage because many a man and wife sleep apart and it is only at table that they are thrown into a position where intimate talk, the very kernel of the happiness of the conjugal state is allowed its full and lightest way. Anecdote, fantasy, pouty and charming complaints, chronicles of the day's success and of the vagaries of the neighbors — that conversational exchange which is the mortar of married life — are enhanced over the dessert, perhaps because dessert, like mortar, is so liable to be sticky.

These observations are confirmed by the most exact experiments of modern scientific physiology — Grutzner fed rats with foods of different colors and found that the successive portions were arranged in different strata. The food taken first lay next to the walls of the stomach, while the succeeding portions were arranged regularly in the interior in a superimposed concentric fashion. Cannon showed that the proteins remain twice as long in the stomach as the carbohydrates, and the fats many times longer than either.

Thus the great body building and energy giving blocks of a meal—the soup, the entire and the fatty gravy and salad—go first and the stomach begins to wrestle with them. The dessert lies on top, the taste and flavor of it remain pleasantly, it serves as a buffer between the business-like first part of the meal and prolongs the period of satiation and completion — the hour of charm. No wonder conversation begins at this time—the purpose and labor of the meal is fulfilled by the meat and gravy and potatoes. The relaxation is afforded and promoted by the apple pie or whatever the dessert is. And then when its turn comes, when it is at the bottom of the pile it being carbohydrate goes out quickly making no trouble—exit laughing.

Reserve Judgment
Those ladies of the Red Cross canteens who are so distressed by cause the soldiers prefer "meat" and potatoes and gravy and apple pie and eschew the carrots and cabbage of vitamin concentration fame should pause before they pass judgment. The soldier is being more scientific in his selection, that they. We have already discussed the meat and potatoes of his choice. What about the apple pie?

Roughage we name as first of its virtues—it stimulates the large intestine to proper rhythmic function. Being dessert it has all the virtues we have noted above. Besides that apples have nearly as much Vitamin C as partly destroyed by cooking) as asparagus, chard, cole slaw, cucumbers, eggplant, onions or prunes, three times as much Vitamin B as carrots, and more Vitamin A than cauliflower. Apples have calcium, phosphorus, iron and potassium among their mineral wealth. Cooking renders apples three or four times as digestible as they are in the raw state.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. Q.—What is the cause of ringworm and how can it be cured?

Answer: Ringworm is caused by the invasion of a microscopic fungus, trichophyton, under the skin. It can be cured by the application of Whitfield's Ointment, or, in stubborn cases, the X-ray.

Washington Round-up

News and Views, Briefly On What's Going On In Capital

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 5. — The house was set today to approve overwhelmingly the streamlined tax bill designed to free 30,000,000 taxpayers from making out returns and to simplify return-filing for 20,000,000 more.

Leaders expect the measure to pass before nightfall. Under its present form, it would become effective next Jan. 1, and for persons earning up to $5,000—the withholding provisions would be retained to take care of the entire tax.

LEASE
President Roosevelt has indicated the administration intends to tighten its bookkeeping on lend-lease and the senate today took up the question of extending the aid program. Mr. Roosevelt has ordered the establishment of various governmental agencies and the orders won the approval of the senate appropriations committee.

DRAFT
The senate military committee has reached in the proposal to draft 4-Fs despite war endorsement by the committee's counterpart in the house. "Any draft of labor that does not include a draft of industry would disrupt production that is truly phenomenal," said Sen. Kilgore (D-W. Va.) Sen. Johnson (D-Colo.) said he would not support the measure. The bill would subject any draft registrant between 18 and 45 to induction into the military or labor service if he shifts from essential to non-essential work without draft board permission. It also would reclassify and draft for essential industry any of the 3,800,000 4-Fs deemed capable of performing necessary work.

OPA
The house Republican leadership has decided to abandon its anti-slavery fight and approve continuing price control but it seeks court review of OPA regulations. There were prospects that an extension of 18 months beyond June 30, rather than the first-proposed 12 months, would be urged.

LIQUOR
The senate's liquor investigating committee recommends that more industrial alcohol be brought in from the Virgin Islands, Cuba and Puerto Rico and less rum and gin. Senator Murdock (D-Utah) says "entirely too much emphasis is being placed on the quality of industrial alcohol and entirely too little on the quality of beverage alcohol being imported into this country for consumption."

SAYS BLACK, WHITE MOVIES TO REMAIN

De Mille, Film Pioneer, Not Afraid of Television, Technicolor

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C. — Neither television nor technicolor will ever supplant the black and white motion picture, in the belief of Cecil B. De Mille, film pioneer.

De Mille, in Washington for the premiere of "The Sign of the Cross" for the benefit of the Red Cross Naval fund, said he believed technicolor would no more replace black and white films than colored paintings have replaced etchings in the country's art galleries and homes.

"Right now there are about 7,000 television sets throughout the land," De Mille said, "where there will have to be 20,000,000 before television can begin to be on a par commercially with the film theater."

Sees Field for All
And even then, he said, one must remember that "Mrs. Smith does not buy a new hat to wear in her own home and fishes have been swimming in schools for over five million years."

If radio, television and the motion pictures can co-operate, De Mille said, there is no reason why any of them should adversely affect each other. Co-operation between the movies and television, he said, already has been accomplished through his own company, Paramount, which holds a large share in Dument television and is currently conducting research in the new field.

De Mille gave credit for the Roosevelt film to President Roosevelt who eulogized its central character in a radio broadcast.

Called White House
"I was sitting in the studio listening to a fireside chat when the President told how Commander Wassell, an Arkansas country doctor, had saved wounded men in Java," De Mille said. "I got in touch immediately with the head of the Paramount studio and he in turn called the White House almost before the President had signed off."

"I got the consent of Washington to make the picture. They brought Dr. Wassell back from Australia to help me. He agreed only when I told him a percentage of the gross business in excess of $200,000 would be turned over to Navy relief."

"The 'truly great hero,' De Mille said, impressed him as "just a gentle hillbilly from Arkansas."

MARION, Ill.—The Williamson county February grand jury made a record here by investigating all cases, including five inspecting and reporting on the jail, drawing their pay and adjourning—all in one day. They worked one hour overtime.

Hitler's Paratroop Expert On Coast

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, May 5. — Adolf Hitler had shifted his parachute troop expert, Lt. Gen. Kurt Student, from Italy to France and also has moved battle-hardened parachute and airborne troops from Italy to the "Atlantic wall," the German radio said today.

Declaring Nazi airborne forces have been stationed in special "danger zones," the broadcast said Student just has completed an inspection of the Atlantic bastions and that troops in those positions are awaiting the expected Allied attack.

The broadcast predicted the Allies will try to land "troops behind the well-fortified bastions" and added the invasion forces will be met by Germans "tested to the limit in the bloody fighting on the south Italian front."

The London press yesterday quoted the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet as saying German reconnaissance pilots had observed "Allied invasion troops embarking in invasion vessels at British ports ready to sail on several occasions, but the troops later landed again."

Methodists Change Anti-War Position

KANSAS CITY, May 5.—The retreat of the Methodist church from its anti-war position is viewed by Dr. Lynn Harold Hough, dean of Drew university, Madison, N. J., as a defeat for the "lads who believe that if you smile long enough you'll get a smile back."

The 66-year-old educator who helped lead the movement to scrap the stand against support, endorsement or participation in war, said in an interview the shift may change the "history of pacifism that has confused the church's young people so that they don't know how to act in time of war."

By adoption of a resolution yesterday, the general conference held that "God himself has a stake in this war," and committed the church to active support of the Allied cause.

"We are well within the Christian position when we assert the necessity of the use of military forces to resist an aggression which would overthrow every right which is held sacred by civilized men," the resolution stated.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN TRUNK

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—The body of a woman, police said was found today in a trunk shipped from Chicago to the Railway Express Co. office here. The trunk was taken to the morgue where the torso was to be examined.

Investigators said they had not yet determined to whom the trunk had been shipped. Capt. Leroy Sanderson of the police homicide squad reported that the trunk was sent from Chicago April 30 by a man giving his name as John Lopez.

The discovery was made by Eugene Biledeau, a repair clerk at the express company office. Finding some liquid—apparently not blood—oozing from the luggage he opened the trunk to repair it.

Raising the lid, he saw a leg, cut or torn, protruding from a heap of women's, men's, boys, and girls, clothing.

The body was encased in some substance, evidently salt, police said.

SLAYER OF GIRL, 9,
HELD FOR MURDER

NEW PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—
First degree murder charges were filed last night against Elmer Charles Gray, 54, of Uhrichville, in the rape slaying of nine-year-old
Naomi Freed at nearby Dennison
April 18.

The body of the Freed girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Freed of Dennison, was recovered from Little Stillwater creek April 21, after a three-day search.

Sheriff John McIntosh said Gray made a confession after submitting to a lie detector test in Cleveland.
The confession related, the sheriff said, that Gray accosted the girl as she crossed a bridge between Dennison and Uhrichville, where she had attended a movie. McIntosh said Gray admitted attacking the girl but remembered nothing after that.

the state chairman had been at odds with various sub-leaders of the party.

Frank Dye of Columbus, questioning the value of the Jones endorsement, said "everyone has a right to support personally any candidate he chooses."

Candidate Reams, however, declared "it is high time that the state chairman of the Democratic committee of Ohio cease and desist in practices which tend to eternal disorder and lead to dissension which ultimately ends in party failure at the general election."

Jones, a Newark lawyer who was elected chairman of the Democratic state executive committee two years ago despite his endorsement of Republican Presidential Candidate Wendell L. Willkie in 1940, threw his support to Mayor Lausche at Newark last night.

"Inasmuch as I do not wish to continue as chairman of the Democratic state executive committee and seek no party or public office," he said in a formal statement, "I feel free at this time to publicly state my personal preference in the gubernatorial primary next Tuesday."

"That man is Mayor Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland."

"I believe Frank Lausche is best qualified to plan and execute a program which will serve the interests of all the people of Ohio."

Candidate Huffman quickly asserted that the endorsement did not have the approval of the state executive and state central committees.

Senate Committee Still Finds Flaws In 4-F Draft Plan

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—A bill designed to force at least a million 4-F's into war jobs ran up against strong opposition in the senate military committee today despite endorsements from the committee's counterpart in the house.

Sen. Kilgore (D-W. Va.) predicted the senate group would view the Bailey-Brewster "work or be drafted" proposal with the same lack of enthusiasm that has accompanied 18 months' consideration of the Austin-Wadsworth national service bill, applicable to both men and women.

"Any draft of labor that does not include a draft of industry would disrupt production that is truly phenomenal," Kilgore told a reporter. Sen. Johnson (D-Colo.) added that he could not support the proposal.

Their view contrasted with those expressed yesterday by Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the house military committee, Rep. Costello (D-Calif.) whose subcommittee recommended "work or fight" action to end labor turnover, and Rep. Luce (R-Conn.) author of two pending measures dealing with turnover.

Senate committee Chairman Reynolds (D-N.C.), opponent of the national service, promised "a vote by the committee one way or another within 30 days."

The measure would subject any draft registrant between 18 and 45 to induction into military or labor service if he shifts from essential to non-essential work without draft board permission.

In addition it would reclassify and draft for essential industry any of the 3,800,000 4-F's deemed capable of performing necessary work.

Assistant Navy Secretary Ralph Bard, endorsing the bill along with Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, and Under-Secretary of War Patterson, told the senate committee yesterday there are 1,000,000 men under 38 classified as 4-F's "who are not engaged in essential war work."

Bard declared that when word went out that the induction of men over 26 was being stayed, there was a sharp increase of 4-F's going into non-essential industry.

zealous gardeners who put them out too early will have to get out and protect them."

It takes a freeze to injure most crops and fruit trees, agriculture officials said, and there is "nothing in current predictions to cause alarm."

Ohio Gardens Expected To Escape Frost Tonight

COLUMBUS, May 5.—Despite efforts of subfreezing temperatures in other states, Ohio will escape frost tonight and Victory gardens and orchards will be safe under a cloudy sky, Weatherman George W. Minding predicted today.

However, a mercury lower than the predicted 40 degrees will endanger warm weather plants like tomatoes, sweet potatoes, egg plant and peppers, H. D. Brown, head of the Ohio Victory gardens, reported.

"They shouldn't have been planted until May 25," he said, "and

Three Boys Feared Drowned After Boat Is Found Overturned

(By Associated Press)

WARREN, May 5 — Authorities dragged near by Mesquite reservoir today for the bodies of three teenage youths whose overturned outboard motor boat was discovered near the center of the extensive lake one mile south of Route 88.

The youths were Donald Hudson, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hudson, and Jack Tarr, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tarr, of nearby Mascota, and Albert Johnston, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnston of Cullman, Ala., who had been living at Mecca with friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Powell.

Parents of the boys notified the sheriff's office last night when they failed to return to their homes. Investigation disclosed the trip went on a fishing trip yesterday.

Sheriff's deputies said attempts and logs in the newly-flooded reservoir hampered grappling operations.

A Model is Murdered ~ BABS LEE

SYNOPSIS

Syria Verne, de luxe model, was the victim of a fatal bullet fired at the telephone in her penthouse apartment to which she returned soon after midnight following a quarrel with Pierre Sturges, art photographer. Argus Steele, author and erstwhile detective, is reconstructing the events of the evening before. He and his friend, Ellen Curtis, a model, were in the swank Penguin Club. During a brief absence of Ellen, Syria had entered and was greeted by Argus as an old friend, the one-time Lucy Blahlan who sang in the fearsome Dancer Martini's cafe. She told Argus that she had signed a Hollywood contract recently. Soon they were joined by Ellen and Pierre Sturges. As Syria and Pierre were about to leave, the former asks Argus to phone her, adding in a whisper: "I may need your help."

CHAPTER THREE

"He's a queer looking duck!" Argus remarked after Syria and Ellen had gone.

"Rumor hath it he's in love with her. Gosh! She certainly has Glamour with a capital G."

"I used to think so, but personally I prefer red heads with turned up noses and innocent blue eyes." "I see," Ellen said. "And how about that little southern blonde beauty who claimed you bit her ear off the other night at the party?" "Oh, that," explained Argus. "I was just breaking the ice."

"You know," said Ellen, "Syria's afraid of something. I've seen her taking a couple of times to a saloon-looking little man who looks like a gangster, and once I overheard something that made me wonder."

"What was that?"

"I was coming out of Pierre's studio the other day."

"Say! You do a lot of work for that fellow?"

"Jealous? Anyway, Syria had left the studio and I ran into her in the corridor taking to this pale, complexioned fellow. I heard him say: 'Th' boss says if you don't play a harp, baby!'"

"Then he saw me and stopped talking. But Syria's face was ghostly white."

"Probably a process server," Argus said and Ellen asked, "Have you known her a long time?"

"Lui! I mean Syria?"

"Yes."

"As time goes, yes. But I haven't seen her for four years."

"I think she's a man-trap," Ellen remarked. The way she turns on that ten thousand candle power under those lashes!"

"The Latins have a name for that sort of glance," Argus declared.

"South of the Rio Grande it's called a mirada. Once a senorita fixes her boy friend with a mirada, he says fixed!"

"I suppose you were in love with her," said Ellen, regarding the top of the table intently.

"We did have a sort of gentleman's agreement," Argus admitted.

"What happened?" she persisted.

"There was more than one beau in Syria's string," said Argus. "We had a date one night and when I found she was in another guy's arms."

"And what did you do?"

"The natural thing. I got drunk. Now how about another appetizer before dinner?"

"Oh, all right. You're a perni-cious influence on me, Argus Steele!"

Argus signalled the waiter. "Two more of the same," he said.

"Where are we going to have dinner?" Ellen asked.

"Right here, honey, and for once your life you can eat all you want. It's on the house."

"On the house?"

"Yes, ma'am! A friend of mine is in here last night and won a bet for a free dinner for two. Some sort of balloon bursting contest. He couldn't use it so he gave it to me."

"Isn't that elegant? Personally I'm going to have something light like a steak mothered with eggs."

"I'm on a diet, too," said Argus. "I think I'll have a glass of milk and a piece of meat in it. They do eat awfully well here."

Ellen giggled. "How's your new book coming, by the way?" she asked.

"It's not. I've made my murderer commit such a perfect crime I can't solve it myself," Argus said.

"Well, look who's here!" exclaimed Ellen to Argus. A dark-eyed youth with a sullen dissatisfied look and a weak chin strode to the bar. "If it isn't Bill Carstairs, III, the chorus girls' de-

Dorry smiled demurely. "You're the detective who solved the Fane case?"

Carstairs ordered a drink at the bar. Then he looked around and saw Ellen. He came over to the table. The rims of his pale blue eyes were red.

"Hya, toots?" he said. "May I sit down here?" He indicated the chair which Syria had vacated.

"Who's your silent friend?" Ellen looked uncertainly at Argus and then introduced them.

"Are you alone, Bill?" she asked. "I hardly recognized you without a couple of blondes on each arm."

"I've got a little cutie-pie," said Bill. "She's outside talking to a couple of the boys from Syracuse."

He turned and tried to focus his eyes on the detective. "So you're Argus Steele?"

"Any objection?" Argus asked. "No offense, my bucko! No offense!" protested Carstairs. Then raising his voice: "Waiter! Where's my drink? The service in here is punk!" Several people at nearby tables turned to stare. He pulled out a cigarette and lit it with a shaky hand.

Argus had heard about Carstairs. His name was constantly in the papers for one reason or another. Supposedly he was heir to ten million dollars and his antics were news. He'd been arrested for drunken driving and striking fights in night clubs. He'd been sued for breach of promise five times. He was twenty-six, but he looked forty.

A short girl, with blonde curls peeping from under a powder blue hat, joined them suddenly. Ellen sized her up. She was of the "five-foot-two, eyes-of-blue" variety and.

Definite Program Of Social Security Urged By Bricker

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, May 5—Gov. John W. Bricker says the nation should decide what kind of social security program it will have, "how extensive it will be and what agencies, governmental or otherwise, will run it."

Speaking on a Town Meeting of the Air broadcast, the candidate for the Republican presidential nomination said last night there was no question whether this country should have such a program because the nation has had social security in varying degrees since colonial days.

The governor shared the program which originated in radio station WCOL with High school students who expressed their views on the question, "Does youth want social security from the cradle to the grave?"

Questions to be answered, Bricker said, were how to help the needy without perpetuating the cause of need; whether benefits should be extended to all hazards of life; where to draw the line between private and governmental operation; whether the federal government or the states should be entrusted with the program's operation and whether under any system, indolence and lethargy could be discouraged and initiative and thrift promoted.

"We must remember," he said, "that any program for helping others through government must rest ultimately on the will of our people. If the spirit of brotherly helpfulness goes out of our hearts no program will long endure."

YOUNGSTOWN, May 5.—Ursuline nuns have arranged to buy "The Mansion," former palatial home of the late Henry K. Wick, a leading iron and steel maker here a few decades ago, Bishop James A. McPadden announced today. Under terms of the preliminary agreement, the former Wick home and 30 acres of land will be taken over by Ursuline sisters and remodeled for use as a motherhouse, supplementing the 47-year-old convent in Youngstown.

A later Japanese broadcast said Maj. Gen. Kumao Oohashi and Maj. Gen. Yoshitada Shimokawa had died in April of illnesses contracted "while on active duty" and had been promoted posthumously to the rank of lieutenant general. Oohashi, whom the broadcast described as "chief of staff of a front line army corps," and as "head of an army unit in China," was said to have died April 14, while Shimokawa, "commander of a unit on the front," died April 19. The broadcast reported Lt. Gen. Chunchi Oohashi had been appointed commander of the Asahikawa division.

sentimental interest. Ordinary horse-sense dictates that explosives be handled cautiously.

Thus it behooves each of us—whether we be columnists, politicians or longshoremen—not to sound off too violently in public in laying down the post-war law. We have to remember that we are in a partnership. We can't say to either of our great allies dogmatically "you must," any more than they can say to our Uncle Sam "you must."

Our ultimate war objective, I take it, is to establish a just and enduring peace. That certainly involves a high degree of ultrism. It means acceptance of the thesis that we are indeed our brother's keeper—within realistic and practical limits. We must remember that impractical zealotry in our fraternal mentorship over small nations may bring them disaster and perhaps wreck the chances of enduring peace.

The consensus of Allied statesmen is that world peace depends on solidarity among the Big Three. A split in the partnership would mean another war ultimately.

SOLIDARITY doesn't involve subservience on the part of any one of the partnership. It doesn't demand sacrifice of principle. It does call for a high sense of realism in working out post-war readjustments. It involves the view that world peace is more important than the outcome of any single claim that is of restricted significance.

But what about the Atlantic charter? Well, practical minded British Prime Minister Churchill recently gave us a lead on that. He was asked in commons for a clarifying statement "in view of the doubts which exist as to what territories the principles of the Atlantic charter were to apply." To this he replied:

"It is evident that as the changing phases of the war succeed one another, some further clarifications will be required of the position under the document. . . . The Atlantic charter stands as a declaration of the spirit and purpose in which its signatories are waging this war."

This has been interpreted generally as meaning that while the charter stands for broad ideals, it must be adapted to meet unusual circumstances. If we accept that as the common sense view, then we must approach the various complications without undue emotion and with realism—a realism not dissociated from the reasonable self-interest which the United States, and all its Allies, are entitled to sustain.

LEND LEASE TOTAL HITS 30 BILLION

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn.) reported to the senate today that actual lend lease expenditures up to April 1 totaled $30,362,687,362, of which $19,700,297,674 represented facilities, goods and services furnished to the British empire and $4,214,920,449 to Russia.

Reporting on an investigation of lend lease by the senate appropriations committee, of which he is acting chairman, McKellar said that of the total outlays $2,327,789 has gone to Latin America, "with the largest expenditures in Brazil."

China got $418,296,436 in direct lend lease aid.

Favor Gov. Bricker
JACKSON, Miss., May 5.—The Mississippi Republican delegation to the national party convention in Chicago will be uninstructed, but a party spokesman said it was almost solidly in favor of the nomination of Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio.

Grange Plants Two Trees In Honor of Service Men

At the last meeting Midway Juvenile grange had charge of an Arbor Day program. The subordinate and juvenile granges worked together in planning to plant trees, and Harry Holloway and Charles Wilhelm planted two large pine trees previous to the meeting. This was done in memory of the boys in service from this organization.

The following program was enjoyed: Piano solos, Donna Jean Yocus; poem, The Planting of the Apple Tree, Shirley Hinnerman; essay, Arbor Day, Its Meaning, Harry Holloway; quotations about trees, assembly; story of Apple Seed John, Mrs. Russell; trio, Trees, by Joyce Kilmer, Donna Yocus, Phyllis Gilson, Marjorie Gilson; short biographies of famous trees, subordinate members; reading, When We plant a Tree, Mrs. Cooley; talk, Conservation and Reforestation, Master Clyde Temple; a tree quiz.

On May 12, the Girl Reserves from Leetonia; directed by Miss Mary Jane Shepherd, will put on a play entitled, "Polly Put The Kettle On". It is expected that the Thomas brothers will entertain with musical selections.

COPE FOR PROBATE JUDGE

Are The Girls and Boys of Columbiana County Worse Than In Other Counties of The State?

The voters, I am sure, want to know how the duties of a Public Office are discharged and so that you might have the facts regarding the Juvenile division of the Probate Court I have obtained the record of the number of girls and boys from our county sent to the Industrial Schools at Delaware and Lancaster during the last eleven years. So that comparison could be made I secured the figures from other counties near our size.

County.	Population.	Total Commitments Since 1933
		Boys:	Girls:
COLUMBIANA	86,484	166	118
Belmont	94,719	99	55
Lorain	109,206	96	20
Muskingum	67,398	109	37
Trumbull	123,063	113	31
Tuscarawas	68,193	77	37

For the Girls the figures show that Columbiana County sent 104% MORE THAN BELMONT; 280% MORE THAN TRUMBULL; 490% MORE THAN LORAIN.

For the Boys the figures show that Columbiana County sent 68% MORE THAN BELMONT; 73% MORE THAN LORAIN; and 48% MORE THAN TRUMBULL.

THE THREE COUNTIES ABOVE ARE ALL LARGER THAN COLUMBIANA.

That counting the difference in population Columbiana County sent 2½ times as many girls as Muskingum and Tuscarawas.

You can see that the Probate Judges from the other counties have followed a plan of working out their problems with the young people and ONLY SENDING THEM TO THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL IN EXTREME CASES.

THE ALARMING NUMBER OF COMMITMENTS by Judge Hammond indicates that this same policy of CONSIDERATION and PATIENCE HAS NOT BEEN FOLLOWED IN OUR COUNTY.

I do not believe that the young people of Columbiana County are worse than in other counties.

I believe that the Juvenile Court should save girls and boys from the Reform school and be an agency of HELP and RECONSTRUCTION. I believe that ARBITRARY HARSHNESS is just as UNDESIRABLE as UNDUE LENIENCY in handling juvenile questions.

I submit this information to the FATHERS and MOTHERS of Columbiana County and to all organizations interested in CHILD WELFARE WORK, and believe that it ESTABLISHES that a CHANGE in the office of Probate Judge will benefit Columbiana County.

Battle Seen Between Salem And Akron In Canton Relays

Quakers And Vikings Only Unbeaten Squads Among 15 Entered In Saturday Meet

Salem High's Quakers and Akron North's Vikings are picked to battle it out Saturday in Fawcett stadium for the championship of the third annual Canton McKinley relays—one of the largest affairs in the district this year and reputedly one of the most colorful.

Charles Wright, manager of the meet and coach of McKinley's track team, reported today that 15 teams had entered and two more may be entered before the preliminaries get underway at 9:30 a. m. Saturday.

Besides Salem and Akron North there will be three other Akron schools, East, South and Buxton in the meet. Also listed are Boardman, Louisville, Struthers, Warren, Massillon, Ravenna, Youngstown Rayen, Burbank, the only Class B aggregation, and Canton McKinley and Lehman.

Salem and North rate pre-meet top billing because both have gone through their schedules undefeated. Salem has taken four meets, two dual affairs, one triangular and the Uhrichville relays, which had 12 teams on the roster. The Quaker record is probably more impressive than the North record of the wins, but competition among the Akron schools may be considered somewhat more difficult than in this vicinity this year.

North is unbeaten in three meets, two dual affairs and the Greater Akron relays last Saturday. In the Akron meet East's team gave the Vikings a close race, losing out by just 5 1/2 points after a stiff battle.

Six Question Marks
Of the other squads in the meet, Salem has already met and beaten six, leaving just six questionnaires for Coach Fred Cope's charges. A large factor will no doubt be the ability of Salem's regular second and third place winners to get into the points.

Last year's meet was won by Cleveland's Tech, with 36 points. The Tech squad, a powerhouse again this season, will not be in the meet Saturday because they have a local meet in Cleveland.

Points will be given for the first five places will run 5, 4, 3, 2, 1. On a similar basis at Uhrichville, Salem accumulated 64 5/6 points, an amazing total considering the number of teams in the meet. Cope expects much stiffer opposition Saturday than his team has yet encountered.

The winner in Canton will be almost assured of the NEO district championship here May 20 as the best teams in this section of Ohio are entered in the affair.

17 Regular Events
There will be 17 regular scoring events in the meet and an additional Junior High relay which will not count in the championship scoring. Besides the 14 regular meet events there will be a shuttle relay, a medley relay, and a two mile relay.

Awards will be given to the meet winner and the winning teams in each relay event. Presentations will be made by five Canton McKinley girls. Joan Beltra, a senior, will be queen of the meet and her attendants, Rose Vetrus, Barbara Smith, Maria Schaffer and Doris Rank, will assist in handing out the trophies.

Finals will start at 1 p. m. Saturday with the pole vault and high jump. Finals in the field events are scheduled to begin with the high hurdles at 1:30 p. m.

GOLFERS CAN WIN BIG PURSES IN '44

More Than Six Events Offer $200,000 In War Bonds

By FRITZ HOWELL

NEW YORK, May 5.—America's play-for-pay golfing devotees will be in there pitching and putting for more than $200,000 in war bonds this year.

Fred J. Corcoran, P.G.A. tournament manager, announced today that six tournaments offering more than $120,000 in bonds were on the summer slate, and that a half-dozen more were "probabilities."

Corcoran said the winter tour paid off some $100,000 in bonds to the professionals, and resulted in the sale of more than $200,000 in bonds. He predicted the summer events would eclipse both winter records.

The summer's opening tournament is the Philadelphia Inquirer Invitational, June 5-11, at the Torresdale Farm and Country club.

Another 72-hole medal play event will be Greater New York's Red Cross 1944 War Fund Sweepstakes June 15-17 at New Rochelle's Wykagyl Country club.

June also brings up the victory National Championship at Chicago's Edgewater Golf club, June 30-July 2. Preceding the 72-hole title test, pro-amateur, pro-lady and pro-senior attractions are carded for June 28 and 29.

Net proceeds of the Chicago event will go to help rehabilitate wounded service men.

Other tournaments already sealed include the Minneapolis Four-ball Invitational, July 6-9 at the Golden Valley Country club, the revival of the P.G.A. Championship at the Manito Golf and Country club, Spokane, Wash., Aug. 14-20, and the Tam O'Shanter Open, sponsored by George B. May, scheduled at Chicago Aug. 24-27, which carries a record purse of $42,500 in bonds.

As well as the record-breaking total purse, the Tam O'Shanter classic offers the highest first prize ever known to folk—$13,466.67 in war bonds.

DERBY SATURDAY MAY HAVE MUDDY TRACK FOR HORSES

Fourteen-Hour Rain Leaves Grounds Sloppy: 12 To 17 May Run

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 5.—Challenge Me, winner of the Arkansas derby, was the first name dropped into the Kentucky Derby entry box this morning as rain, turned the racing strip into a sea of slop and forecast the first muddy derby since 1923.

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY
LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 5.—A breath-taking two minutes will tick off the 70th running of the Kentucky derby tomorrow, but owners of the prospective starters were talking in short breaths today over the prospects of the first muddy track for the event since Clyde Van Dusen wallowed home to victory 15 years ago.

The names of 12 to 17 thoroughbreds were expected to be dropped into the entry box when the deadline arrived at 10:30 this morning.

A 14-hour rain that quit for awhile and then resumed again last night left the Churchill Downs racing strip a sloppy mess, fetlock deep in water. Unless more rain falls today, or tonight, however, the track may drain off, making it slow, if not muddy.

B. R. Paton, owner of Valley Flares, said his horse would not start if conditions were unfavorable. A. J. "Whitey" Abel, self-professed "poor man's" owner of Gramps Image, said his thoroughbred did not care too much for mud, but would start regardless.

Makes No Difference
John Gaver, trainer of Mrs. Payne Whitney's favored, Stir Up, said rain or mud would make no difference.

Ben Jones, trainer of the Calumet farms' Pensive, also said he didn't care about the conditions. He will be aiming for his third derby winner. He saddled Lawrin in 1938 and Whirlaway, holder of the derby record, in 1941. Eddie Arcaro, incidentally, was the jockey who rode both of Jones' derby winners. If Eddie can make it three tomorrow on Stir Up, he'll be the third in derby history to accomplish the feat. The others were the most famous of all Negro jockeys, Isaac Murphy, and Earl Sande.

Although horse lovers and betting men alike are all stirred up over the prospects of a stand-out triumph by Stir Up, there is plenty of interest in Challenge Me, Sky-tracer, Broadcloth, Autocrat, Alor-tr, Bell Buzzer, Gay Bit and others, all good mudders.

If 16 go to the post, the winning owner will collect the largest purse in the history of the race, $64,675. Umberto, the largest purse was $64,225, hauled down by Shut Out a his 1942 triumph.

DODGER SOUTHPAW By Jack Sords

YANKS GOOD FANS, ENGLISHMAN FINDS

IOWA CITY, Iowa.—Englishman Rex Whitworth is a bit perplexed. The president (English for captain) of the Cambridge University track team two years ago, Whitworth is training with the University of Iowa tracksters for his first competition in American sports and says it seems to him Americans are more interested in watching a sport than in participating in it.

"We English aren't as keen on watching a match as you Americans are," he explains. "We would rather be right in the contest. Most people here seem content to watch instead of play."

However, Whitworth predicts that after the war more Americans will participate in sports as an after-effect of the emphasis placed on sports by the armed services. Whitworth came to this country a year and a half ago to study medicine on a Rockefeller Foundation scholarship and plans to return to England after being graduated next fall. He is 23 years old.

Anxious To Run
Meanwhile, he is anxious to stretch his legs again and declared after a recent practice:

"It feels good to be running with the chaps again."

Iowa's coach, George Bresnahan, expects Whitworth to be a valuable asset to the Hawkeyes' undermanned track squad. He will compete in the high and low hurdles and the broad jump (he calls it long jump).

Although he was Cambridge's high point man, Whitworth objects to being called the team's "star" because "that would be letting down my native chaps."

"That was during war days and our sports were below standard just like yours are," he adds.

Whitworth is engaged to an American girl, Ann Verdin of Iowa City, a student at the university.

BIG MORT COOPER IS QUESTION MARK IN NATIONAL LOOP

Injured Ankle May Be Answer To Star Hurler's Poor Showing

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

What's the matter with Morton Cooper? That's the $64 question the National league today as the big righthander's St. Louis mates take on the second place Cincinnati Reds in the first big series of the 1944 campaign.

Cooper, who won 21 decisions last year and hurled 24 complete games in 32 starts, has failed to go the route in three outings including yesterday's 6-3 loss to Pittsburgh.

An injured ankle, suffered when he was hit by a line drive in an exhibition shortly before opening day, may be the answer.

While Cooper was having his troubles yesterday, Max Butcher was breaking into the win column for the first time after surviving a jittery first inning in which he allowed three runs on four hits and a walk. The West Virginian allowed only four more hits in the rest of the game as the Reds pulled St. Louis down to within one game of Cincinnati and the Phils, tied for second.

Freddy Fitzsimmons' Phillies, idle yesterday, move into Brooklyn today.

Giants Lose Again

Boston slid the New York Giants down the shorts to their fourth straight defeat, 8-4, with Connie Ryan, a former Polo ground, adding to their embarrassment with two singles and a homer accounting for four runs.

The Cincinnati-Chicago game in the National was postponed, and Brooklyn, like Philadelphia, was not scheduled.

Rookie Ed Lopat of Little Rock hurled Chicago's White Sox to a 2-1 edge over Cleveland's Vern Kennedy. Wally Moses, crept up on the leaders by stealing two bases, one of which figured in the Sox two-run spurt in the fourth inning.

St. Louis took advantage of the open date in the eastern half of the American league to tighten its grip on first by a 2-0 job against Detroit.

The Browns learned that Pitcher Steve Sundra will report for military duty Tuesday but signed Pitcher Denny Galehouse, who has been working in a war plant, for weekend duty.

The Cardinals revealed that Outfielder Johnny Hopp had been re-

Hardball Team Practice Is Called For Sunday

A meeting and practice for the Salem hardball team have been called for 2:30 p. m. Sunday at Centennial park. In the event of rain the meeting will be held in the pavilion.

Yesterday's Stars

(By Associated Press)

Connie Ryan, Braves—Drove in four runs with two singles and home run as Braves battered three Giant hurlers for 8-4 win.

Max Butcher, Pirates—Recovered after wobbly start to whip Cardinals, 6-3, in odd game of series.

Eddie Lopat, White Sox—Notched first major league victory, 2 to 1, by striking out four men and scattering nine Cleveland hits.

George McQuinn and Nelson Potter, Browns—First sacker McQuinn drove in both runs and Potter limited Detroit to five singles in St. Louis' 2-0 triumph.
